He was buried in Termini Imerese, Palermo, Sicilia, Italia. The name of Termini Imerese derives from Latin Thermae Himerenses that means "thermal baths". In its territory there are ruins of settlements of Paleolithic period and of Bronze and Copper ages. The town of Thermae rose after the destruction of the nearby Himera when a group of survivors settled there and founded a town center.

During the Roman period, the town grew quickly and many majestic works like the aqueduct Cornelio, were completed, but is now in ruins.

In 828 it was conquered by Arabs who enlarged and improved the city. With the Normans it became a central town. The emperor Carlo V who settled there round 1540, built the first city walls for fortification. Most of this wall ceases to exist.

Today, Termini Imerese is a large industrial city with many factories and a large electrical generation plant which supplies much of the electrical power for Sicily.

The main monuments in Termini Imerese include: The fifteenth-century Chiesa of S. Caterina (Church of St. Catherine); The Chiesa of S. Maria della Consolazione (Church of St. Mary of the Consolation), which is decorated with stuccoes by the school of Serpotta; The Duomo of the XVII century Chiesa of S. Francesco (Church of St. Francis) and it's nearby convent that has been changed into a school.

Mathew had a taxicab business, called Chappie's Coaches. He would take people down the south shore to the beaches in the summer and returned them after a day at the beach. One of my mother's earliest recollections is riding with her father in the taxi/coach. There was a small seat to the left of the driver's seat, almost built into the door. My mother must have been about 5 [1925] and she would ride down and back with her father.
